

Agnieszka Swaczyna

Agnieszka has a degree in Law from the Jagiellonian University in Cracow. She has been an attorney since 2003 and a member of the District Bar Council in Cracow. Agnieszka specializes in family law, including parental child abduction cases (Hague Convention of 1980). Agnieszka has lead workshops for trainee attorneys at the District Bar Council in Cracow since 2014.

Agnieszka is also a family mediator and has volunteered at the Adoption Centre of the association “Pro Familia” for the past three years.

In the interests of making the law more accessible to the public, Agnieszka has authored two law blogs: www.blogrozwod.pl (about divorce and separation) and www.bezprawaanirusz.pl (about family law and inheritance law). By educating the public about common legal issues and legal processes, Agnieszka hopes to assist members of the public to make informed decisions and prevent instances of parental child abduction in future.
